Through Words And Pictures The Caritas Seeks To Relate The Experiences Of Another Year At The College Of Great Falls.

Mr. Di Rocco

Caritas 1969 honors a CGF faculty member whose dedication to the college, to the students, and to his work is of inspirational proportion. Frances W. DiRocco, who started his teaching career at the College of Great Falls in 1941 as an instructor in chemistry, is currently serving as Chairman of the Department of Natural Science and Mathematics. The Science Student Association was the result of his personal enthusiasm to provide for the needs of dedicated students. The faculty, too, are well aware of Mr. DiRocco's concern for the College, and in 1967 elected him to serve as chairman of the Faculty Status Committee, a post he currently holds. Although his interests center around science, they extend to advising the men's service fraternity, working as a member of the Academic Policy Committee, being a trustee of the Great Falls Knights of Columbus, and speeking to local groups and meetings.

Department of Education

Cornelia Martineau, Associate Prof. of Education.

Roman Horejsi, Assistant Prof. of Education Health & Physical Ed.

Sister Rose Angela, Associate Prof. of Education.

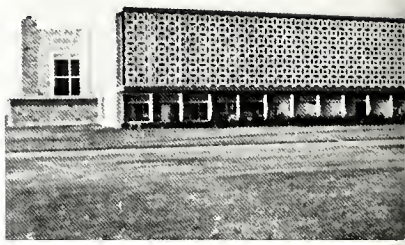
The Department of Education prepares students as teachers on both elementary and secondary levels. Secondary education students receive training in education methods in conjunction with courses in their chosen major and minor fields.

Ronald Hawley, Assistant Prof. of Education.

Ray Dodds, Assistant Prof. of Education Argo Coach.

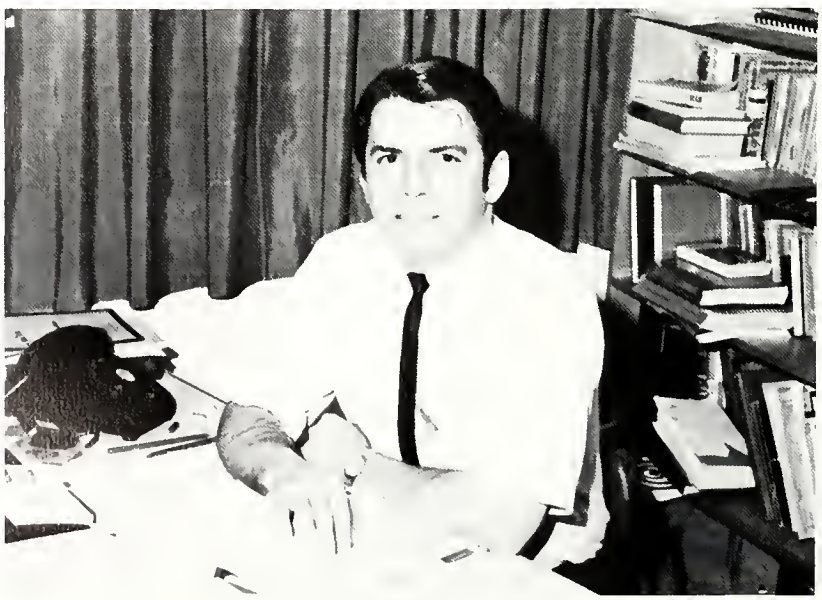
Department of Fine Arts

Sister Gloria, Assistant Prof. of Fine Arts, Music.



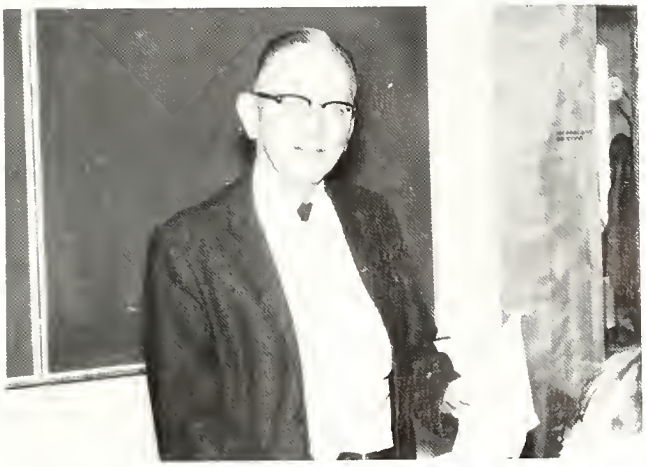
Studios for ceramics, silver-smithing, and painting, as well as a lecture room furnished with projection equipment for slides and prints, serves the needs of the art department. This area has made its cultural influence felt on the campus. Exhibitions by professors and art students are shown regularly.

The Music Department offers its students courses in music education, theory and composition, applied music and music history. The department also offers participation in chorus, band, and symphony orchestra as well as musical productions.



Robert Griffith, Instructor in Music

Jack Franjevic, Associate Prof. of Fine Arts, Art



Vernon Stone, Lecturer in Engineering.

Sister Ann Ellen, Assistant Prof. of Fine Arts, Art

Sister Mary David, Ph. D., Associate Prof. of English

Department of

The Department of English offers a B. A. degree and a minor. The majority of students who graduate go into secondary education and become high school teachers. Many go on to graduate work and become librarians and college teachers. Interest is increasing in the areas of modern grammar and communications. The department also offers courses designed to complete core requirements for students in other majors.

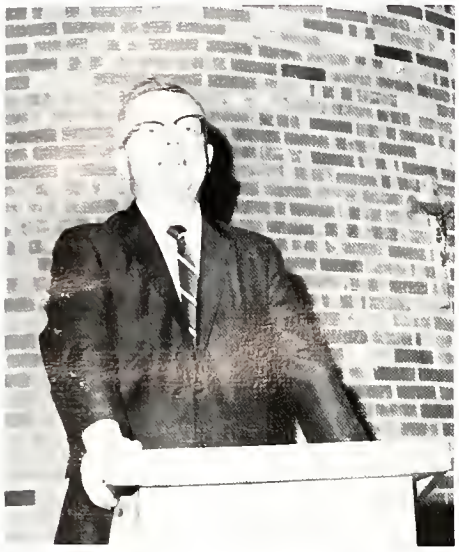
Speech

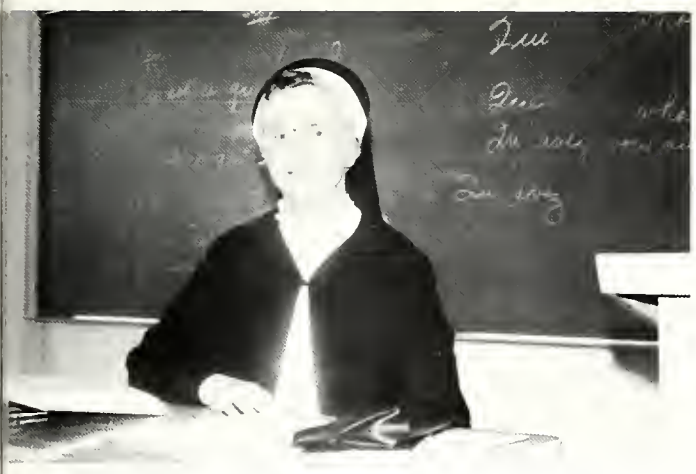


Tom O'Brien, Assistant Prof. of Speech

Terry Radcliffe, Assistant Prof. of English and Speech

The Department of Speech offers only a minor. It offers fundamental courses such as Debate and Parliamentary Procedures and new courses such as Advanced Public Speaking, Semantics and Play Production during interim. There will be an increase of courses to include Group Dynamics and Communications Theory, which is a television course, in the program of courses this fall.

Marian Ruegamer, Assistant Prof. of Foreign Languages, Spanish, meets with a class in the S.U.B.

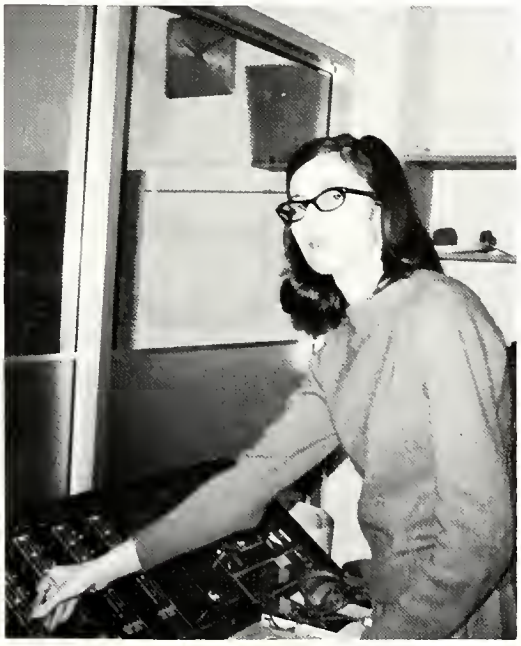


Sister Evelyn, Assistant Prof. of Foreign Languages, French

Department of Foreign Languages

Sister Lidwine, Ph. D., Associate Prof. of Foreign Language, Greek and Latin

The Foreign Language Department offers courses in both modern foreign languages and Classical languages. These include French, German, Spanish, Greek and Latin. A language laboratory consisting of full electronic equipment and individual study booths froms an integral part of the foreign language instruction.



Barbara Everett, Instructor in French

Keith Moorehouse, Instructor in German

Father Patasias, Lecturer in Theology

Departments of Philosophy and Theology

Father Chircop, Lecturer in Theology

The program of the Department of Theology is designed to fulfill core requirements for students in all major fields. Students are encouraged to include some theology courses in their college education. Catholic students usually take at least two courses in theology. Other students choose their course work according to their interest or preference. A course in Scripture is usually of interest to all students.

Father Noxius, Ph. D., Assistant Prof. of Philosophy

Father Feldman, Assistant Prof. of Theology

Father Fox, Ph. D., Professor of Philosophy

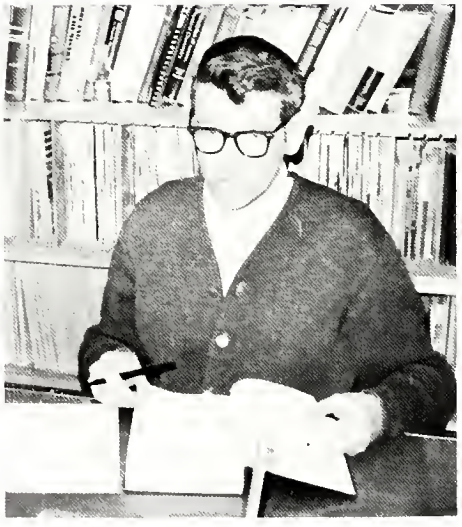
The Department of Philosophy offers its students a B. A. Degree and a minor in philosophy. The courses offered in this field can be divided into two groups, the history of philosophy, and the problem-solving areas of philosophy. Many students go on to graduate work and become college teachers. There are some careers in banking and business which welcome such liberal arts majors. Most law schools find this kind of a background suitable for a legal career.

Dr. William McCutcheon, Visiting Professor of Religious Studies

Cornelius Foley, Associate Prof. of Philosophy

Department of Natural Sciences and Mathematics

Frank DiRocco, Professor of Natural Sciences, Biology and Chemistry



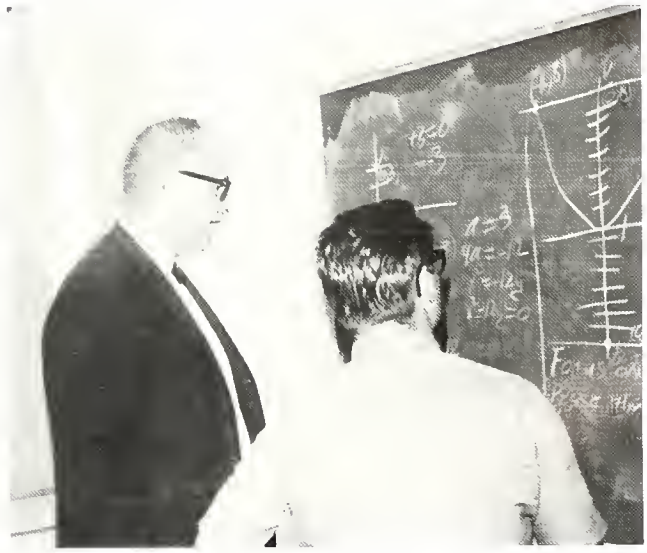
Daniel Goodman, Assistant Prof. of Natural Sciences, Chemistry

Dr. Won Shic Peter Hong, Associate Prof. of Natural Sciences, Biology

Father McInnis Ph. D.,
Associate Prof. of Natural
Sciences, Biology

The Department of Natural Sciences includes the fields of biology, chemistry, physics and mathematics. Its curricula are designed to prepare students for positions in science and technology as well as teaching on the secondary level. The department also offers two and three year curricula in pre-professional programs which give students the background they need before entering professional schools of medicine, veterinary medicine, pharmacy, etc.

The curriculum in the mathematics department has recently been expanded to include courses from Intermediate Algebra to Modern Algebra and Complex Varibles to Fortran Programing.



Edward Peressini

Kennedy Memorial

Since Vatican II, the ecumenical spirit has been prevelent in the Catholic Church; the College of Great Falls has been no exception in keeping with this spirit. The theology department was fortunate during the past academic year in obtaining the services of Dr. William J. McCutchen, who arrived on campus in January as part of the new Interim term.

Dr. "Mc", as he became known to the students, was a member of the theology department at Beloit College, Beloit, Wisconsin, and took a four month sabbatical leave to visit the College of Great Falls in order that he might gain a better perspective in what was taking place in the Catholic Church. Through the students, Dr. "Mc" was able to gain this perspective along with an idea of how the young people are responding to the new movement which is taking place. Through Dr. "Mc" the students were able to better discover how members of other faiths were responding to our ideas and what could be done by the young members of our congregation in order to improve our image to the world.

Dr. McCutchen left us in April, but the thoughts and inspirations that he left behind will stay with us for many years to come. People come and people go, but the memory lingers on.

A special thank you goes out to the following: Theresa Schneider, Sue Perryman, Ralf Savie, Mark Williams, Elaine Anderson, Susan Sackinger, Marce Harper, Jacque Lemieux, John Temple, Trudy McGowen, Mary Penberthy, Bobbi Conard, and Eileen Murphy.

During the 1968-1969 year the CARITAS staff consisted of Janice Smith, Terry Flaghan, and Jo Gleason, -layout workers, Trena Kanduch- yearbook artist, and Sister Ann Ellen-advisor.

Without the volunteer help from these people the 1968-69 CARITAS would not have been out.

Thank you again
Sincerely yours,

Trena Kanduch
